UNIQUE DIFFERENCES IN ADCC SCORING

No positive points for the first half of the match. Can receive "PASSIVITY WARNING"

Pulling guard will net a negative point for the athlete.*

Disengaging, backing up, and then avoids engaging again nets a negative point.

Passive fighters will receive two (2) warnings "WARNING PASSIVITY" after which they will net a negative point. No additional warnings after the negative point and will immediately receive a negative point again.

Slams legal ONLY when escaping a submission.

*Voluntarily jumping guard or going from a standing to non-standing position and remaining down for 3 seconds or more.

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE ADCC

The competition was created by Sheik Tahnoon Bin Zayed Al Nahyan, the son of the former United Arab Emirates president Sheikh Zayed bin Sultan Al Nahyan, together with his Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu instructor Nelson Monteiro in 1998. With $70,000 total prize money up for grabs, ADCC attracted the biggest names in grappling and MMA. The event started as an annual tournament held in Abu Dabi, but would eventually move to a two year format that was hosted in various countries that included Brazil, China, Finland, Spain, the UK, and the US.
